Dear Landlord:

Mr. [REDACTED] has been assessed by me and meets the functional limitations imposed by his disability. [REDACTED] meets the definition of disability under the Americans with Disabilities Act, the Fair Housing Act, and the Rehabilitation Act of 1973.

[REDACTED] has certain limitations regarding coping with symptoms that stem from his disability. An emotional support animal will significantly help in alleviating [REDACTED]'s symptoms, and will enhance his ability to live independently and to fully use and enjoy the dwelling unit you own and/or administer. I am prescribing an emotional support animal that will assist [REDACTED] in coping with his disability. This is applicable to his dog, Kronos, a 52lb Siberian Husky.

I am familiar with the voluminous professional literature concerning the therapeutic benefits of assistance animals. This includes the physiological and psychological benefits they provide people with disabilities, as experienced by [REDACTED]. Upon request, I will share citations to relevant studies that point to some of the following: relief from feelings of isolation, an increased sense of well-being, mood improvement, and increased optimism, reduction in debilitating symptoms, encouragement for social interactions, and around-the-clock, emotional support. With Mr. [REDACTED] consent, I can answer any questions regarding my recommendations. This letter will cover the patient between the periods of 05/24/2016 – 05/24/2017, at which time [REDACTED] will be assessed for continued need of an emotional support animal.

Sincerely,

Amanda Williams
